Free Things to Do in Salem

Explore your National Park

The first National Historic Site established in the US, tours of the buildings and wharves at the Salem Maritime National Historic Site are free, as is the film "Where Past is Present" at the Visitor Center.

Stroll along Chestnut Street

Wander down beautiful Chestnut Street and read all of the house plaques to learn the about the people who built and lived in the exquisite Federal-style mansions. A self-guided brochure is available online and at the Visitor Center.

Relax at the Ropes Mansion

This stunning Colonial Revival garden, created in 1912, is a popular place for relaxing, reading, photography, and admiring the flowers. Take a self-guided tour of the mansion Saturdays and Sundays 12:00 pm-4:00 pm.

Wander around the Willows

In addition to the restaurants and arcades (which will lighten your quarter stash), Salem Willows Park has two free beaches, walking trails, and a free summer concert series on Tuesday nights.

Remember the victims of 1692

Dedicated in 1992, by Nobel Laureate Eli Wiesel, to commemorate the tercentenary of the Salem Witch Trials, the Witch Trials Memorial at Charter/Liberty Street was restored in 2012 and remains a solemn place to honor and remember the brave people who maintained their innocence in 1692.

Connect it all along the Salem Heritage Trail

Connect all of Salem's sites by walking the Salem Heritage Trail. A red line painted on the sidewalk, the Heritage Trail will help you navigate your way through Salem and American history. The Heritage Trail is printed on the map in the back of The Salem Guide.
